As a member of our Business Law Practice Group, Jon represents a wide variety of businesses in the areas of business formation, acquisition and sale, regulatory and consumer law compliance, real estate, condemnation, construction, and dispute resolution. His 30 years of litigation experience benefits his clients in avoiding and resolving unwanted litigation whenever possible. Jon grew up working in his family's construction, architectural, and real estate businesses in Monroe, Wisconsin. After graduating college with a degree in economics, and before attending law school, he worked in construction management of large commercial projects. Jon has practiced law in South Central Wisconsin since 1989, handling cases and matters throughout Wisconsin.
